Programs to support a positive school environment

In 2006 the school introduced Pathways to Peace program and established a Peace Code which is used as a platform for learning and behaviour from Preschool to Year 7. In 2008 we became a Save the Children, United Nations Global Peace School having completed accreditation during 2007. The Peace Code is crucial in the maintenance of a positive school environment. It is an expectation that students work towards making the classroom, school and community a better place through peace projects. Major wellbeing projects include Harmony Day and workshops. Peer Support through buddy classes operates across the school to foster and develop communication, care and support amongst students of all ages.

Aboriginal Students

Northfield Primary School is located in the heart of Kurna country and respects the Kurna people as the traditional owners of the land. Our Aboriginal students identify with a diversity of Aboriginal cultures. They are supported by our Support & Intervention Team including our Aboriginal Education Teacher (AET) and Aboriginal Community Education Officer (ACEO).

Support and Intervention

All students with disabilities are fully mainstreamed and have Negotiated Education Plans (NEPs) to support their individualised special needs. Over half of our students have English as a second language and have varying degrees of learning needs. The school has a Support & Intervention Team who oversees additional resource allocation and track student achievement with achievable and ambitious targets. In addition to classroom teachers individualising learning, additional support and intervention by teachers and School Services Officers (SSOs) is allocated on a needs basis.

Pastoral Support Worker (PSW)

The school accesses 15 hours per week of PSW time. Cathy Phelan works on whole school peace projects and prioritises individual time for students who are vulnerable with their learning engagement particularly in regards to their well-being.

Student Involvement

Years 5-7 students are encouraged to lead committees to foster greater participation in decision-making and involvement in school improvement initiatives.

3. Strategic Directions

The School's Vision Statement: is 'Working Together for a Quality Education'. Our moral purpose is to support students to challenge themselves to continuously achieve. Staff are currently working together on articulating our mantra, which revolves around developing powerful learners through collaboration, personalisation, innovation and peace activism.

Through developing powerful learners, the Site Improvement Plan has focused priorities on literacy and numeracy. The school has an agreed whole school data collection agreement in place to measure the progress in these areas on an individual student basis and across the whole school. Reading comprehension focuses on developing our students' abilities in "The Big Six" of reading – oral language, vocabulary, phonological awareness, phonics, fluency and comprehension. We explicitly teach The Big Six through the strategies of making connections, visualizing, inferring, synthesising, questioning and determining importance. Northfield Primary School has developed a whole school literacy teaching and learning agreement.

Numeracy is a continued focus in 2019. We aim to develop a whole school numeracy agreement, develop staff knowledge in mathematics teaching and learning, improve staff, parent and student perceptions towards mathematics and collect and analyse numeracy achievement data.
